A MEYER RETURNS

ATTENDS WONDERFUL INDUSTRIAL CONVENTION AT TOLEDO, OHIO

Mr. A. Meyer, the local Overland and Willys-Knight automobile distributor has just returned from a "dealers' convention and general get-together meeting at the Willys-Overland Co.'s factory at Toledo, Ohio." There was a special train of fifteen coaches chartered for the Pacific Coast dealers, and this was probably the largest special train that ever pulled across the continent. At points along the line, the different dealers were picked up, and altogether there were approximately five thousand dealers from all points of the U. S. A.; about three hundred of whom were from the Pacific Coast. It was probably the largest and most wonderful industrial convention that the commercial world has yet heard of. At all points en route the "Overland Pacific Coast Special" was met by the citizens, and speeches were made at the different places where stops were made. The train created a great deal of interest everywhere it stopped, as it was something larger than most people had ever heard of. The factory itself being "the world's largest single automobile factory" was an education and inspiration to all the dealers present—as after they had seen the wonderful time and labor saving machines, carriers, and system that prevails throughout the factory that has a capacity production of one thousand cars per day—they knew that they were connected with one of the most powerful industrial organizations of the world.

"From the time we left," said Mr. Meyer, "until our return, there was not a moment that there wasn't something doing. From the time we left San Francisco there was everything that could be desired in the way of comfort, pleasure and amusements. There seemed to be a procession of boys going through the train between meals passing oranges, apples, cigars, cigarettes, and everything that can be conceived of; all at the expense of the Willys-Overland Co. It was not even allowed to tip the porters—that was all taken care of by the factory—and I must say that if we had all been multi-millionaires, our treatment and reception could not have been a bit better.

While at the factory, we inspected and rode in the new model cars, had sales talks and lectures given us by the heads of departments, and made a tour of inspection through the factory. This, in itself was an education as it was a wonderful sight to see the wonderful machines and system that enable the factory to have such an enormous production; think of it, one thousand complete automobiles turned out in one day. We were entertained by the Overland Band and the Overland Glee Club, and moving pictures were shown of the Overland Knight Motor; of The Canadian plant of the Willys-Overland Co., at Toronto, and also of the many subsidiary companies of the factory. We saw 17,000 employees at work in the largest single automobile factory in the world that has 7¾ miles of railroad tracks in the factory yards—that uses 125,000 tons of steel in a year's output and 18,000,000 pounds of aluminum in a year, making the company the largest user of aluminum in the world.

Among the new models inspected was the "Country Club 4-passenger Roadster"—and it created such a hit with the dealers that over $30,000,000 worth of this model car was sold in two days. I might add that we have many signed orders for this popular car—it surely is a winner. After shaking hands with John N. Willys, the factory president, we started on our return trip. Speaking of this "Country Club" Roadster, the following parady on the popular song "A little bit of Heaven" was made up:

"A Classy Little Bus."

Sure a classy little bus took shape in Harry Shepler's mind,
He had it pictured all complete from lamps to decks behind;
And when he had the model built, he called the others in,
And said "Suppose we fix it so all medals it will win."
So they finished it in dark gray with the fenders glossy black,
And put on a nifty windshield that was slanted smartly back;
Then they fitted it with wire wheels
as red as eyes could stand,
And then they named it Country
Club—A brand new Overland.

POETRY OF THE BIBLE

CHAPTER L., P. E. O. PRESENT INTERESTING AND NOVEL PROGRAM

Chapter L, of the P. E. O. Sisterhood, met at the home of Mrs. J. M. Border, 231 North Louise street, for an all-day meeting on Wednesday, December 13, with Mrs. Josephine Bryant acting as president in place of Mrs. Charlotte Campbell, who was unable to be present. The morning was devoted to the usual business, and reports read from the various committees. After the business was dispensed with, a delightful luncheon was served to which all did justice. The afternoon was given over to a splendid and interesting program under the leadership of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, the subject being, "Poetry of the Bible." The first number was given by Mrs. Anna Goss, her subject being the "Song of Solomon" and the "Book of Psalms." She and Mrs. Bryant also sang one verse from "Simoan," which is said to be the most perfect verse in English poetry. Following this Mrs. Mitchell favored the chapter with two piano selections and Mrs. Edith Ellis gave a fine talk on the strength and courage of Queen Esther. Mrs. Bryant sweetly sang "My Dream" and "The Fleeting Hour," by Dorothy Lee of Los Angeles, being accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Burket and on the cello by Hollis Moyse. Mrs. Tower then took up the character of Ruth and brought out the splendid faithfulness and love of Ruth for Naomi, her mother-in-law, and last but by no means least, Mrs. Edith Hunchberger read a crowning piece on the life of "Mary, the Mother of Jesus." The program was most interesting and instructive and showed much thought and work on the part of all connected with it.

As guests the chapter had with it Mrs. Angur, now of Los Angeles, but whose membership is still in O. K. Brooklyn, Ia.; Mrs. Carter, a new resident of Glendale but with a membership in Chapter C. Alva, Okla.; Miss Bartlett of O., Pomona; Mrs. Logan of A. H. Tropico, and Mrs. Cunningham, Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Guthrie and Mrs. Cross of Chapter B. A. Glendale. All brought words of greeting from these various chapters and their presence was enjoyed.

ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS ENTERTAINED

Highland Park Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Los Angeles celebrated its tenth anniversary on the evening of December 12, inviting Glendale Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Carnation Rebekah Lodge of Glendale over to participate in its merry-making. A party of about twenty-two went over from Glendale, a few in an auto and the majority in a truck furnished by the Odd Fellows. They were right royally entertained with a program of music, recitations and games, followed by a supper. The games were many, unique and varied and a jolly good time was enjoyed by every one. A huge birthday cake, or rather three cakes placed together in the shape of three links and decorated with the letters "F. L and T." was served, all standing in line and marching past to receive their piece of the big cake. Everyone had a piece and as there were over two hundred people present, it was surely "some cake." Among those who attended from Glendale were Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith, Mrs. Laura Jones, Mr. C. W. Ingledue, Mr. Chas. Lund, Mr. Chas. Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Fancett, Mrs. Ida Smith, Mrs. and Miss Arbuthnot, Mr. Bullis. Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Weaver, Mr. Ernest Wardell, Mrs. Curent, Mrs. Klumm, Mr. and Mrs. Mallory, Mrs. Hartley, Miss May Lyons and Miss May Sprinkle.

Luncheon guests will be Little Mary, Mr. King, H. M. Horkheimer, E. D. Horkheimer, Dr. and Mrs. Leon Osborne, George Rizard, Bert Enswinger, Dan F. Whitcomb, Mrs. Whitcomb, Norman Manning, Miss Mollie McConnell and Donald Gilfether.

LANSING FORWARDS PEACE NOTES

SHORTLY AFTER RECEIPT OF GERMANY'S OFFICIAL TEXT SECRETARY DISPATCHES SAME TO ALLIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—Within a few hours after the receipt of Germany's official text by the state department, Secretary Lansing, according to orders from President Wilson, dispatched the notes to London, Paris, Petrograd and Tokyo, the provisional capital of Roumania, Serbia and Belgium. The notes were sent without suggestion or comment. However, the administration has instituted a series of confidential soundings in the belligerent capitals to determine how the various governments are disposed to consider the peace move now. The American embassy in Berlin transmitted with the note confidential memoranda for the guidance of President Wilson.

The soldiers are taking the corn sent to the suffering by the Red Cross. Villa has captured Santa Rosalie again.

The Senate passed the immigration bill including the literacy test.

AT STATE CAPITAL

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION CONTEMPLATES TEXT BOOK CHANGE

More changes in the state printed books now used in the various grades of the elementary and grammar public schools of the State, comprising an enrollment of 423,000 boys and girls, are now being planned by the State Board of Education.

The idea of changing books is a "bug" that hits every State Board of Education that comes along. The present Board, which is a lay-board that is to say, not made up of professional school men, is no exception. The present Board has been in office only since 1913, has already scored heavily on changing books. This Board found a set of readers which had been in use for hardly four years consisting of a primer and five readers. True enough, this set of readers had been put into the State public schools, after due examination by a State Board which had then for its membership the highest paid educational men of the State, including the president of the State University, the professor of education in the same institution, the presidents of the State Normal Schools, which teach the teachers to teach the readers, and the Superintendent of Schools.

But any decision in the selection of school books can be reversed after a minimum of four years, and so the present State Board not only threw the former set out but increased the number of readers so that there is a brand new set of a primer and eight readers. The present Board also changed the introductory history.

And now the Board has advertised for bids for a first and second speller, a first and second language book. The second language book is what was formerly called the grammar but it is now termed "Guide to Language Study."

Before advertising for bids the Board tried what turned out to be a failure as well as a costly experiment. It hired an "expert" at a salary of $3,000 a year. The expert got out a sample speller at the cost of some $600 for printing besides other expenses. It was sent out to the teachers for a try out. They gave it a cold reception, and finally the sample speller, in which many mistakes were found, not only in spelling itself, but in its educational make-up, was ditched and the expert's services dispensed with.

Of course as the State prints and pays for the text-books from State taxes, fathers and mothers do not have to pay directly for books so changes can now be made with less fear of criticism and publicity. But changes are costly and not a cent can be recovered as salvage for the thousands of old books left in the school closets.

EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Margaret Armbruster celebrated her eightieth birthday on Monday, when she and her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Crocker of 121 Cedar St., were guests of Mrs. H. J. Cole and Mrs. Bowler in Los Angeles at a regular New England turkey dinner. Mrs. Bowler and Mrs. Cole came from Maine a short time ago and were guests of Mrs. Crocker for several weeks previous to their taking apartments in Los Angeles recently.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Armbruster was the recipient of a very pretty token of regard and esteem from her neighbors and friends, who gave her a carnation shower. Every one came laden with a boquet of beautiful carnations and Mrs. Armbruster is still enjoying their fragrance and beauty. In spite of her eighty years Mrs. Armbruster is enjoying the best of good health, and her friends hope to participate in many more such happy occasions. The afternoon was spent in needlework by the ladies and a five o'clock tea was served by Mrs. Crocker. The ladies present were Mrs. O. H. Jones, Mrs. John Horsch, Mrs. Lester Jones, Mrs. De Vore, Mrs. Ed Lee, Mrs. John Wilde, Mrs. Ella Jack, Mrs. Lydia Keppy, and Mrs. Frank Verr.

DEATH OF WALTER EDWARDS

Walter D. Edwards aged 17 years passed away Thursday morning at his home 4140 Parkdale avenue, Los Angeles, just over the line from Tropico. The young man leaves to mourn for him, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edwards and three brothers, Austin, Henry and Loy besides many young friends in Tropico and Glendale.

Funeral services will be held at the chapel of the Scovern-Letton-Frey company on Monday afternoon, Dec. 18, at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

AT GLENDALE HIGH

DEUTCHER VEREIN CELEBRATES—MUSIC CLASSES TO ENTERTAIN

Pfeffer nuesse, lebkucher and springrli were on the menu Wednesday afternoon when Der Deutcher Verein celebrated. They took two periods to work off their hilarity, and they celebrated with a vim that only the Dutch can show.

The club met in the auditorium the seventh period to listen to a musical program. Richard Berry, Glendale High School's rising young musician rendered several excellent numbers on the piano. A girls quartet—Katheryn Coates, Margaret Houber, Mildred Wight, and Dorothy Hunt, sang German songs. Jenny Lacy and Thelma Stanton also brought many cheers.

When the music was over the company made a pilgrimage to the gymnasium, where the Christmas tree was in waiting with gifts for every one. Forming a ring about the tree every one joined in song. Indulging in various diversions the moments passed rapidly and three o'clock came all too soon.

What refreshments were left at this time, however, were not forsaken. No, indeed! Sammy Merriken and Tom Phillips of the Alumni were there.

Miss Fenton, entertained the Spanish classes Wednesday with Spanish selections on the Victrola. Some of the pieces almost inspired action on the part of the young men, so suggestive were they of the graceful Spanish dances. This was a rare treat, and thoroughly appreciated by the students.

Mr. Ferguson knows how to give examinations. This was the opinion expressed by several students yesterday after an examination in Trig.

Mr. Howe's American History classes are slowly mastering the U. S. Constitution. Pretty soon examination is coming, and then—beware; you who are not familiar with the powers of Congress, or the duties of the Supreme Court, or you who do not know how Senators are appointed. Better study now than to cram later.

Mrs. Gibson will entertain the school at the regular weekly assembly this week with a recital by the music department. Outsiders are welcome.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1916.

CAN WE AFFORD TO DELAY LONGER?

From an industrial standpoint the general public does not seem to realize the importance of the passage of workable water power legislation at once.

Never was the need so great.

Our good American dollars are pouring into investments in South America, China, Canada, Norway and European countries for power development purposes simply because our own laws do not encourage the investment of capital for this purpose in our own country.

Never before has such an opportunity been offered the investor to put his money into power development and yet we are standing still.

Congress has not failed to recognize the importance of this matter and many measures have been discussed.

The Ferris bill as amended in the Senate and the Shields bill seem to offer workable legislation under which the public interests are protected and at the same time capital encouraged to invest.

Statesmanship instead of politics should decide this matter and legislation encouraging our industrial growth should be the demand.

The passage by Congress of laws permitting, under suitable safeguards, the development of available water power at sites requiring Federal permits would result:

First: In construction under Government supervision but without cost to the Government of navigation facilities vastly improving waterways now used for transportation and opening up for navigation thousands of miles of waterways not now navigable.

Second: In creating in connection with such navigation improvements an enormous total of hydroelectric power to be used in making nitrate fertilizer to supply at low cost the farmers of the South and East.

Third: In beginning great construction works which would use capital now idle and keep it in this country against the competitive demands of European countries rebuilding at the close of the war, and against further competition from attractive investment opportunities in South America and elsewhere.

Fourth: In beginning great construction works which would employ many thousand men, skilled and unskilled.

Fifth: In the development in connection with such navigation improvements of hydroelectric power for the operation of railroads by electricity with added comfort to passengers and enormous savings of labor, fuel and operating expense, thereby vastly improving the financial situation of the railorads without increasing the expense of shippers.

Sixth: In enabling this country to take the lead in producing "electric steel" at low cost and in enormous quantities, "electric steel" bringing into use low grades of ore heretofore economically excluded.

Seventh: In irrigation developments dependent upon cheap power for pumping purposes and upon water storage, both supplied in connection with navigation improvements.

Eighth: In preventing floods through regulation of stream flow by reservoirs and other navigation improvements constructed without cost to the government.

Ninth: In retaining in the United States the energy, skill and capital of Americans who, if restrictive laws continue, will be forced as some already have been, to seek and develop hydroelectric power for their uses in Canada, Norway and other foreign countries.

FIRE-FIGHTING APPARATUS

For several years there has been a call for better protection against fire in Glendale. This call has come from persons who have at times of small conflagrations observed the need of greater water pressure. As conditions exist at the present time there is an ample supply of water in all parts of the city to be used at the time of fire, but on account of lack of pressure it is impossible to get the water to elevated places where the fire may be doing its destructive work. Three years ago an auto fire truck was purchased equipped with chemical fire-fighting apparatus but minus an engine for the operating of a force pump. The city trustees have thought it best to call a bond election for the purpose of raising $15,000; about $9000 of this amount to be used for the purchase of a new auto truck equipped with engine and the balance to be used for installing a new engine on the old auto truck and the purchasing of hose for the new truck.

The date of this election is Tuesday, December 19. It is equally important to all property owners and citizens of Glendale. It is unnecessary to bond the city of Glendale for fire-fighting apparatus if we are sure that there will be no destructive fires. It has been the history of all cities of the population of Glendale that destructive fires occur about so often, and while Glendale thus far has been very fortunate there is no one who can assure us that our city is to be free from fires in the future. A fire in any one of the business sections of the city might result in the loss of from $25,000 to $50,000 and such loss might be prevented if the city is provided with ample fire-fighting apparatus. There are homes in Glendale that cannot be protected from fire should it once get a good start, as conditions now are without the use of a fire engine. Let us consider this matter carefully. The benefit derived from the city's owning better fire-fighting apparatus will be general.

THE THRILLS OF THE RACE TRACK

Is it right to advertise automobile races having as the main drawing card the thrills that will be produced by these races? The accidents and the narrow escapes from accident are the thrill producers and why should an intelligent people visit a race track hoping to be entertained by that which endangers life? The sooner human beings lose that anxiety to witness those things that jeopardize the lives of their fellow men the sooner will people become sane citizens. How brutal must be that class of people who congregate on the aviation field and on the race track expecting the thrill that can be made possible by a human being risking his life? Who cares to witness a man walk a wire that is suspended in space twenty to fifty feet above the ground? The science of wire walking will be exhibited just as well if the man walks a wire one or two feet above ground. The fifty feet distance endangers the man's life and on that account the onlookers get the thrill. Thrill lovers should not be encouraged in fostering a desire that can be satisfied only by loss of life.

STUDENTS NOT ALLOWED TOO MANY ACTIVITIES

No college student at the University of Southern California is to be allowed to indulge in so many "student activities" that he or she neglects the classroom work which is the chief reason for being in college at all. The Associated Women Students recently adopted a plan whereby each student activity is rated at a definite number of "points" and no girl is allowed to take on her shoulders more than a certain definite number of these "points." A similar system is being worked out for the men. Thus, if you are a reporter on the student paper, a member of the basketball team, and sing in the college glee club, those activities will probably use up your total number of twelve "points" a year, and you must sigh in vain for the privilege of being class president or athletic manager. The college authorities find that this plan works out to great advantage.

STATE HEALTH BOARD AFTER DRUG FAKIRS

Although the much bejewelled street fakir with silk-hat and long-coat, who sells wonderful cure-alls, is almost never heard of now, the Bureau of Foods and Drugs of the California State Board of Health recently found one of this type in Imperial county. He prefaced his smooth salesmanship with an entertainment, and strange to relate, found many customers for his "New Life Water" which he claimed would cure kidney and stomach diseases, catarrh, eye trouble and many other ills. An examination of the product by the Bureau revealed the fact that the claims made for the so-called remedy were so fantastically extravagant that the matter was referred by the Board to the District Attorney for prosecution.

In Sonoma county the Bureau found the manufacture of California's Lakue, a so-called remedy for diphtheria, cuts, burns, tumors, skin diseases and many other ailments. The claims made for the product were preposterous, as revealed by the chemical analysis made by the Bureau, and this matter was also referred to the District Attorney for prosecution.

Many fraudulent remedies, with extravagant claims printed upon the labels, are sold without the spectacular methods of the fakir with his street entertainment. The California State Board of Health has declared war upon all such fraudulent cures, whether they are sold over the counter or upon the street.

CHRISTMAS PARAGRAPHS

(By Samuel Parker)

Commercializing Christmas.

Any one making a tour of the shopping districts of cities, large or small during the approach of the Christmas day time and away into the night if observant at all of what was going on all about him, would not be lacking in the abundant evidence that the spirit of Christmas was commercial and material entirely. This may be a good thing so far as trade and traffic is concerned, but from a religious standpoint it is deplorable. The beating of tom toms and blowing brass bands by merchants and traders at this season of the year in frantic efforts to unload a line of goods, unsaleable possibly at other times may be justified under the head of "business" but the unfortunate fact sticks out, that the process destroys every feature of the real Chrismas —which is to celebrate the "birthday of a king," (Christ) who by coming to save a lost world, instilled in His followers that spirit of benevolence, kindness, and charity, the foundation on which rests the whole fabric of bestowing gifts—all this is lost sight of while a fictitious fraud, (Santa Claus) is paraded as medium through which the gifts, made possible by the Christ idea, reaches the recipients. Why not be honest especially with little children. As many goods would be sold with the Christ idea, wrought out through parents and friends, as by parading the fraudulent myth, and then there would be no rude shock to the mind of the child later on.

The whole subject of gifts between adults should be recast speedily. Its present manifestations are selfish and clanish, cast on the theory of "you tickle me and I'll tickle you."

John Doe gives a present to Richard Roe, and Roe returns the compliment in something of near value. This is absolutely a pervertion of the true spirit of benevolence. If you give to another expecting another gift in return, what merit is there in this process? No, the true spirit of giving is to seek out the sick, hungry, needy and destitute, and give these liberally as "God has prospered you," expecting no return except that which comes from a consciousness of a plain duty, cheerfully performed. This kind has its charter from the Christmas idea of Christ and cannot be commercialized.

Only a few brief years ago and nearly all pictures and postal cards were ornamented with portraits of the Madonna and child, the shepherds, the flocks, the manger or some quoted passage of scripture pertaining to the advent. Today it would bother you to find a single card of this character in any store anywhere. Cards abound—beautiful in make-up, and charming in sentiment, but the printed text is social and friendly entirely, the religious character of former years being entirely eliminated. Is the evolution morally healthy or otherwise?

There is great need for active work by members of the S. P. U. G. Society even though the work may make them unpopular. Giving should be shaped by reason and intelligence rather than by gush and impulse. It is giving them a stone when they need bread, to load up a child with toys that tomorrow are reduced to kindling wood, when a pair of shoes or a loaf of bread would have been more in order. And the duds on the doll were needed more on the little girl recipient.

Until the advent of Christ (Christianity) the whole world was clanish —selfish and narrow, (tribal.) With Him and his humane teachings came that broad spirit of benevolence, kindness and brotherly love, foundation for all the benevolent charity we see today, from the little girl with a basket of flowers for the shut-in, to the Red Cross, world-wide in its operations.

ELLEN BEACH YAW

GLENDALE TO HEAR LARK ELLEN.

There is a great treat in store for the people of Glendale Friday evening. The man, woman or child who fails to see or hear Madame Ellen Beach Yaw and her coterie of entertainers at the Palace Grand Theater, Friday evening misses an opportunity not often accorded. This opportunity is the result of the efforts of the Glendale Lodge of Odd Fellows. Madame Yaw who possesses a voice of such surpassing beauty of tone and range that she has become very generally known as Lark Ellen and the Song Bird of the South, and which is constantly becoming sweeter and purer uses her wonderful voice only for the sake of sweet charity. A percentage of the proceeds of this entertainment goes to the newsboys orphans home, fostered and supported by her. Many who have previously had the pleasure of hearing Madame Yaw are taking advantage of this opportunity to hear her again.

She has chosen a number of entertainers whom she considers worthy in every respect, to assist her and the Glendale public will not be disappointed by having the pleasure of hearing Madame Yaw, spoiled by mediocre entertainers on the program. Local artists, Mr. Spencer Robinson and Prof. A. Lowinsky are prominent among the entertainers.

PROTEST DEPORTATIONS OF BELGIANS.

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The first organized protest of American citizens against the deportation of Belgian workmen into Germany will be registered tomorrow night when Elihu Root, James M. Beck and the Rev. Dr. W. T. Manning will address a meeting in Carnegie Hall called for the purpose. The exact line of action has not been determined but it is expected that a resolution saying the citizens are resentful of the deportation practict will be adopted.

The call for the meeting was sent out by a committee of citizens who simultaneously requested the State Department to let them have all available information on the deportation which the department thought proper to give out. This will be supplemented with information from Minister Havenith from Belgium and with information gained through unofficial channels.

The United States, officially, has made two representations to Germany regarding the deportations—the first as the ambassadorial representative of Belgium and the second on its own behalf. It was represented to Germany that the deportations were viewed with deep concern here.

A prince asked Dante why it was that most people found quite a stupid person far more agreeable than a man of the highest learning and accomplishments. Dante replied that he found nothing extraordinary in the fact, because friendship depended on a resemblance in character.—Petrarch.

Facts and Comment

All Sierra Madre citizens who voted for the re-election of President Wilson, including all parties, are to celebrate with a dinner on December 19th.

Following a conference and investigation by Long Beach municipal officials and representatives of the Salt Lake, Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric companies a tentative agreement was reached for the removal of all Long Beach freight lines to the industrial district and the establishment there of a union freight terminal in close proximity to the municipal docks.

Mayor Frank W. Wright of Whittier has issued a proclamation setting aside the week of December 14 to 21 in Whittier as "Father and Son" week and urges "all organizations to do whatever they can to emphasize the importance of the home and a closer friendliness and companionship between parent and children and between father and son." A nation-wide movement is being made to make it an annual custom to set aside a special day or week in which to emphasize this thought.

Just what should be done with the vast array of crooked scales, measures, milk bottles and other weighing or measuring apparatus seized by County Sealer Fuller in his campaign for honest weights, is a question puzzling the county supervisors. Some favor correcting the defective measures, and selling them, but others express a fear that they may all again get into use to the deception of the public. There is a possibility that the whole lot may be dumped into the ocean as an object lesson to others.

"At this season of the year," says Dr. Sawyer, state health officer, today, "health magazines and even some public health publications are crammed to the covers with misinformation regarding common colds. Overeating, lack of exercise, fresh air and sleep and 100 or more other indiscretions of ordinary living are cited as definite causes of colds, while as a matter of fact, all acute colds are due to the contraction of an infection. You can 'catch cold' only from a person who has a cold. Soiled handkerchiefs, dirty hands, common drinking cups and eating utensils are generally the vehicles by which the infection is transferred from the sick to the well. Overeating, lack of exercise and all of the other causes in the encyclopedia of misinformation may be predisposing factors by which the individual resistance may be lowered, providing a fertile field for the infection. To keep well, one must live according to the common rules of hygiene and to avoid a cold must protect himself from his fellow man who is thus infected—a thing that is more easily said than done."

BISHOP LEONARD HEADS U. S. C. TRUSTEES

The University of Southern California, at Los Angeles, has announced the election of Bishop Adna Wright Leonard, LL. D., to the position of president of the Board of Trustees. Bishop Leonard is one of the youngest and most active bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church. His diocese includes California, Nevada and Arizona, and his official residence is in San Francisco. He announced his acceptance of the post at the University last week.

Bishop Leonard will succeed Dr. Ezra A. Healy, dean of the Maclay College of Theology in the University, who has filled the post of President of the Trustees for several years.

"I feel that we are extremely fortunate in securing so able a man as Bishop Leonard for this important position," said Dr. Bovard, in commenting on the election.

"Bishop Leonard is keenly interested in educational work, and understands it thoroughly. Even before his elevation to the episcopacy last May, he expressed his keen interest in our institution and his wish to be of service to us. Already he is working with us on ambitious plans for the welfare of the University."
